The excitement of a kickoff, the thrill of two points, a spirited crowd and the triumph of a Ranger win! These things make it all worth while. All the practice, work, problems, and frustrations are taken in stride; you learn to work together as a squad. Patience, discipline, responsibility and leadership are slowly, but surely learned. And in the end with pride and enthusiasm you can say, ''I'm a U. H. S. CHEERLEADER."

The Bridge Builder

An old man traveling a lone highway, came at the evening cold and gray,
To a chasm vast and deep and wide, through which was flowing a sullen tide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim, the sullen stream held no fears for him;
But he turned when safe on the other side, and built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," cried a fellow pilgrim near, "You're wasting your time in building here, Your journey will end with the closing day, you never again will pass this way, You have crossed the chasm deep and wide, Why build you this bridge at even-tide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head: "Good friend, in the path I have come," he said, "There followeth after me today, a youth whose feet must pass this way,
This stream which has been as nought to me, To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be;
He, too must cross in the twilight dim, good friend, I am building this bridge for him."

Well,

My Senior year is almost over,

And the feelings I have inside,

I just can't explain.

There are only a few more weeks of school left and then I'll be starting out in a different world.

Until now, I have always had the security of the school routine and its activities

surrounded by the friends I am so familiar with.

Now, we will all be going in different directions, and

I wonder how long before the memories that meant so much start to fade.

After twelve years of this you would think I would be ready to move on,

But I feel as though I'm leaving a part of me behind.

Maybe that's good though, because I really

UN A have changed in the four years that I've been here.

In a way

I guess everything's really just beginning.
